

OLR.com Upgrades Coming

Written by Deekman

Monday, 12 October 2009 16:28

Hey new and old OLR listeners; in the next week or so I'm going to try and get some updates done to the site, tightening security, new comments system with less spam a few other things.

Hopefully this will allow us to re-open the forums to user registration.

If there's anything you would like to see or changed about the current site please post in the comments of this thread and let me know!

I've just performed some upgrades to the forums and they should run a little smoother. On top of that the OLR staff should now have access to the full moderator control panel without having to mess around to make it work.