Hi OLR fans. Just a quick note on some of the updates over the last couple of days.

First up we have the new podcast RSS feed detailed here .

Second is the twitter feed on the right. It's been updated to a more stable one and you should no longer be getting the errors that some time pop up when loading the site requiring a refresh.

Third is a message board update I've fixed the font issues when typing a message for the forums so you should actually be able to read it now!

Fourth is a little behind the scenes stuff to make the website run a bit faster.

I've also got a little something in mind that might help get us some fresh content on hre but will need to run it by Skie first. Suffice to say things are happening.

I'm still working some of the bugs out of the new RSS feed system but it looks like it's coming together quite nicely.

Since I'm in the updating mood please let me know if you'd like any features or something changed about the site in the comments below.
