(For legal reasons I can't offer this song for download directly.)

Went with another DDR song this week, Dynamite Rave. Debuted in Dance Dance Revolution 3rd MIX, and quickly became a fan favorite among many players. Also featured several different remixes throughout the years, but recently due to legal reasons had to have the lyrics changed! You can hear the new version of this song in the US arcade version of Dance Dance Revolution X, (it's still the original version on DDR X JP) as well as 'Dance Dance Revolution X2' on Playstation 2.

But the real reason I went with this song is what I have planned for all next week. You see the 27th of October marks the tenth anniversary of the very first DDR tournament I ever participated in, alongside several of the people who would later go on to form Orange Lounge Radio. And the version of the game that was used at the tournament was one of the Korean editions of DDR 3rd MIX.

So all of next week I'll be highlighting some of my favorite songs from that version, which include a few of the exclusive Korean licenses. Also watch out for a Video Stumble or two, featuring videos from that tournament! (Yes amazingly enough they're still out there!) So watch for all this next week, right here on the site!!
