Written by Deekman
Monday, 16 March 2009 05:43 -

If music had a taste, you'd be quite delicious. Today's track is "Beam Katana Chronicles" from "No More Heroes" {audio}http://angry-gamers.com/music/BeamKatanaChronicles.mp3{/audio}

Please note due to copyright issues I can not make this song available for you to download directly.

No More Heroes is the highly stylized ultra violent action game for the Wii. As great as the game is for the art direction, story, characters and gameplay (when you're fighting at least) one of the best parts of this game is the music. Thanks to the awesome catchy music cutting people in half, the long way, has never been so much fun!

If you've got a song you would like to see featured or just remember something cool from some game let me know in the comments and I'll see what I can do about featuring it in an up coming article!