Silent Hill isn't your normal old town. It definitely sure ain't.

Today's track is the Theme for Silent Hill

Akira Yamaoka's masterpiece. He began working for Konami in the early 90's composing music for other video games, like Rocket Knight Adventures. Then he began his way to producing one of the most popular horror video games of all, Silent Hill. He basically did all for this game, directing, producing, the art, etc. But most of all the music. The music draws you into the creepy and sometimes sadistic nature of Silent Hill, the visuals and the music makes this games what it is now. I know I give Akira way too much credit, but damn is he awesome.
