

I Love That Song! - The Secret Word is.....

Written by DarkTetsuya

Tuesday, 29 March 2011 17:12

{audio}<http://angry-gamers.com/music/Sandstorm.mp3>{/audio}

(KONAMI WILL SUE, etc.)

RAVE!!! Okay but seriously though, this song debuted in the 2002 PS2 home release of DDRMAX, a new exclusive license not seen in either the arcade or Japanese release of DDRMAX: Dance Dance Revolution 6th MIX. But you can't tell me this song doesn't wanna make you bust out the glowsticks and do some..... well let's just say engage in some activity that I just can't condone and leave it at that. :P

I do have to give a shoutout to core_mc on twitter though (or whatever he's going by now) him and his 'kitchencore' livestream cohorts were playing this song one night during a DDR-inspired set, so I knew I had to feature it in this week's article.

I hope you enjoyed this week's pick, don't forget you can request a song for me or act_deft to put in just hit us up on our respective twitter accounts!

And don't forget as was mentioned during Sunday's OLR that I'll be in attendance at this year's WonderCon (the little brother convention to the epic San Diego ComicCon) checking out everything they have to offer.

So starting this Friday stay tuned to this site for your first-hand look at the latest news in comics, tv/movies, and yes... VIDEOGAMES! Both Capcom and Nintendo will have booths featured, so expect to see hands-on reviews of games such as SSF4: 3D Edition, Resident Evil: Mercenaries 3D, and many more!