

The official news came out this week that E3 would be no more. Of course, if you've been following the show's updates since the last show happened in 2019, this isn't too much of a surprise. However now the industry can move forward in deciding what's next. What do we speculate will happen next, does a new show pop up to take it's place? Does something existing fill the gap? Is there even a gap to be filled? We discuss this all this and much more on another episode of the longest running video game podcast, Orange Lounge Radio!

Also in the News:

- * Activision $54 Million Settlement
- * Fortnite Festival to Support Controllers
- * Last of Us Online Canceled
- * Ubisoft Game Delisted, Servers to Come Down

All this and more on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice-- Orange Lounge Radio!
