

Orange Lounge Radio 345 - 11/22/09

Written by Deekman

Thursday, 26 November 2009 12:58 - Last Updated Thursday, 26 November 2009 12:59

The PSP and PS3 both get some new features this week, including facebook spam for the PS3! Finally, some highly desired games are on their way to the Virtual Console. Also, in our lawsuit happy country, a class action lawsuit is planned over the recent XBOX bannings. Also we talk about layaway making a comeback, and how this applies to the video game market. In Part B tonight, we discuss the VGA 2009 nominees, and make a plea of our own for a write-in candidate. Sonic outfits are coming to littlebigplanet, and Phoenix Wright is coming to Wii Ware. Oh, and did you hear the one about the guy who married a video game? No. Really. All this and MORE including your chatroom antics, phone calls, e-mails and twitter topics on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice, Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_345_112209.mp3}