

After a quick laundry lesson at the top of the show, we jump into game news with a report on the shakeups still happening at Infinity Ward, and what this could mean for the Modern Warfare franchise. Also, we discuss a rumor that Conan O'Brien might have shook up Xbox Live if he had not gone to TBS. We talk gaming soundtracks and 3DS, and then discuss an interesting story about a sleep study dealing with violent video games. In Part B of this weeks show, we talk about the closure of Playstation Room, and why Playstation Network releases might be bumped back a few days. Some big rumors leak out of a Capcom press event in Hawaii, but what is less surprising-- the actual game announcements themselves, or the fact it leaked out? Before we get to the phone calls we cover a very strange story about a woman who falls off a Wii Fit board and then she.... well you will just have to listen to find out, because you can not make this stuff up. All this and MORE including your LIVE chatroom antics, phone calls, twitter topics, e-mails and more on the video game show where EVERY gamer has a voice-- Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_363_041810.mp3}