Discord users can now see the music their friends are listening to thanks to spotify integration. How much do we rely on "other" soundtracks while playing video games? Do we sometimes like to sub out game music for our own music, or a podcast? Or do we think it might be disrespectful to the original composers of the game to do so? We discuss in our kick off topic, and then get into our news of the week which includes an announcement of Mario Kart coming to Smartphones. That should be interesting with no controller, but we throw out some ideas of how that might work.

Also in the news:

* Anthem DELAYed. Yes, that's D E L A Y

* Red Dead Redemption 2 also pushed back

* Baby Tempest Cabinet

* Old Video Game records come into question

All this and more on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice-- Orange Lounge Radio!

LIVE on the VOG Network, Sunday nights at 6 Pacific, 9 Eastern www.vognetwork.com

Twitter: @olr

Mailbag: participate (at) orangeloungeradio dot com

{enclose OLR_717_020418.mp3}