News of a new Silent Hill game, Rush N Attack and a new entry in the Saw franchise all come out of a Konami press event. All of these announcements strike us as surprising in their own unique way, but do the chatters agree with us? Also announced is Gears of War 3, and some Doctor Who games for sci-fi fans. Warhammer Online makes a huge faux-paux in billing, what could the long term effects of this mean, and who will pay all those overdraft fees? In Part B of the show, we talk about an expansion of Games for Windows LIVE into some very familiar games, and we also talk about a brand new gaming network for the iPhone. A classic game gets translated into a classic language, and we have some updates on FEAR 3, Red Dead Redemption & Splinter Cell Conviction. Of course, it wouldn't be OLR without the live chatters, phone calls, e-mails, twitter topics and all the ways we give gamers a voice every week. It also wouldn't be OLR without some food discussion... you wouldn't believe what Loki brought with him to the show this week. Tune in to find out!
