We welcome Steve-O from Jackbox Games to the show tonight to talk about the upcoming Jackbox Party Pack 2, which comes out later this month! We talk about the five games included in the pack, and ask some questions not just from our hosts, but our live chatters as well! We also have plenty of chat on other video games this week including the growing trend of toy-based video games. How do we feel about these games taking up more and more space in the video game section at the department store? Could this be the new future as many more games go digital? We discuss...

Also in the news:

- * Microsoft Acquires Havok

- * Splatoon potential damaging hack

- * Humble Monthly Bundle

- * Cave to crowdfund PS4 releases of games?
