

Google unveiled Stadia this week at GDC, their upcoming gaming platform. It's not a console, but could this platform still be the future of gaming? We discuss in studio with our LIVE chatroom. After our gaming weeks, we get into the news of the week which includes a wrapup on Nintendo's "Nindies" presentation, which confirmed an earlier rumor of Cuphead coming out for the Switch. The presentation also served as a "surprise" launch for Blaster Master Zero 2, which we take an in depth look at on our show this week.

Also in the News:

* Konami Classic Compilations

* Shang Tsung for MK11 with movie actor

* Nintendo Labo VR Kit

* NESMaker
