Should we be concerned about the 360s lineup for this year, or is it all just a sham? Well at least we know of one shoot em up game coming out... in japan anyway! We have not forgot to talk about the Playstation 3 either though, as we talk about multiplayer for Nobi Nobi Boy! And why are publishers angry at Amazon... does it have to do with our story last week?

In Part B, we talk about how a Tatsunoko vs. Capcom release in the US is not really likely, but at least we know we are getting Resident Evil Overload! Also, we might not know much about Excitebots, but at least we know they will give us Super Sandwiches!

All this and much more including your chatroom rants, telephone calls, e-mails and tweets on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice: Orange Lounge Radio!
